“ To the family of Phillip: I was deeply saddened to learn of Phillip's accident and death and that I couldn't get to the funeral. Phillip and I were classmates for 12 years and went to the same church. His grandmother, Mrs. Claytor, was a close friend to my mother and his brother, Jerry, was a classmate of my brother, Sam. I enjoyed catching up with him in 2012 as we planned a class reunion. I am grateful for his service to our country and proud of his accomplishments in the military. What stood out in our conversations was his love for his family and how he showed it, a a in caring for his mother and other family members. He brought his grandson to the Gorham's Bluff for one of our planning days. His love for the child was quite obvious and a blessing for me to observe.

The love he showed to all of you, of course, means the shock and pain of his passing is so much stronger. I will pray for you all and trust that you will find much comfort in memories of the good times you shared.

*Sincerely,
