Sharon's heart overflowed with love and devotion. As a caring wife, mother, grandmother, daughter and sister, she consistently showed empathy and kindness. Her pastimes included fishing, tending to her chickens, and treasuring time with her loved ones. The well-being and happiness of her grandchildren were Sharon's utmost priorities, and she loved being in their company. Through her experiences with her father Dug and her husband, Billy Ray, in repairing and maintaining vehicles, Sha-ron acquired a practical skillset and resourceful nature for working with her hands. As a constant source of support, comfort and love Sharon was always available to lend a helping hand whenever needed, earning the appreciation and admiration of those around her. Sharon had the kindest heart and loved fiercely.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests memorial contributions be made to help with the financial needs of Sharon's three grandchildren she was raising. Any questions can be directed to Sharon's daughter Darla or her oldest granddaughter Aubrey. Celebration of life attire- Sharon would want everyone to be casual
